QUIRIFINO QUANTON Z

Stallion Profile

Quanton Stud are proud to present Quirifino Quanton who is currently in training and successfully competing with International Show Jumper Ben Maher.

Ben has the highest regard for this horse and says "Quirifino is one of the most talented young horses in Great Britain, he could be my future Olympic horse. He has all the makings of a top Grand Prix horse - he is careful, scopey, determined, has the desire to leave jumps up and win"

Quidam de Revel, Quirifino's sire, is one of the most influential breeding stallions of all time, for many years he has been in high demand and commanded record stud fees. His offspring are highly sought after as they have huge scopey jumps, but remain ultra careful. In 2004, Quidam topped the World Breeding Championship Jumping Stallion ratings for the second year, establishing him as the pre-eminent

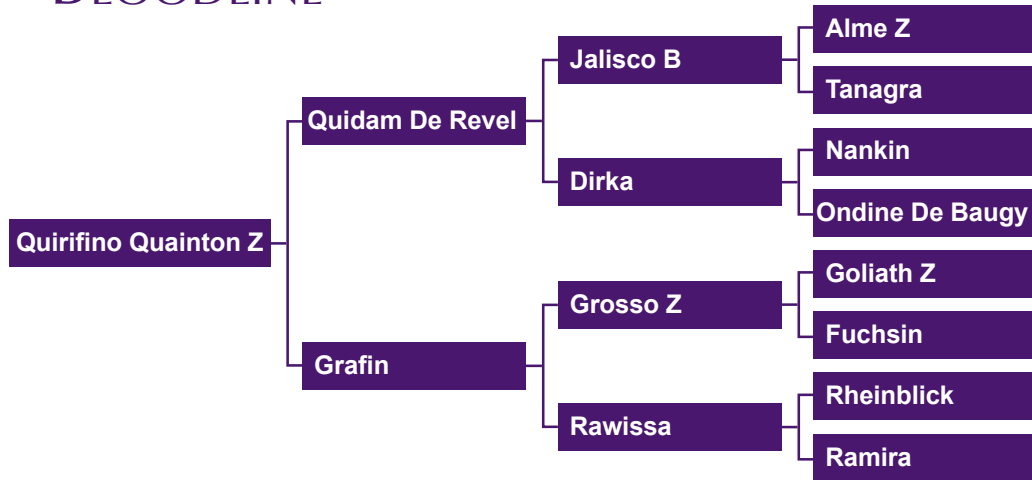

(and most expensive) living sire of show jumping horses.

Quidam's international influence is noticeable with his offspring winning the German Show Jumping Championships and the Dutch Championships. Ten of Quidam's offspring competed at WEG in Spain. During Quidam's competitive years, he won many Grand Prixs and he was fourth in the 1992 Olympic Games

Grosso Z has produced international jumping star Goldfever and the international dressage stallion, Goethe. Goldfever has competed under Ludger Beerbaum in two Olympics, a Continental Championship, a World Cup Final and is still competing and winning!

Grosso Z is a descendent of the Hanoverian 'G' line and a product of Léon Melchior's Zangersheide. Grosso Z was crowned the Champion Stallion of Belgium and the Champion Stallion of the Stallion Performance test.
